

About the Book

The book, The Way to School: A Guide for all who desire to go to school gives a simple arithmetic on how formal Education could be acquired.

Many people's (young and adult) interests to go to school are dud because they do not know or have anyone to direct them to the right way. This book therefore informs, reforms and transforms the young and old minds positively.

Also, it reviews the more technical aspects of study skills, examination skills and different study options available to the adult scholar in particular.

Thus the book is open to all readers, who desire to advance their career in different fields of study. As such, it strategizes some factors that motivate and mitigate one's educational interest.

About the Author

Jonathan Chinaka Nwosu, an education administrator, works with Babcock University, Ilishan-Remo, Ogun State, Nigeria.

His early discovery on how a student could overtake various vices in higher institution inherent in the academia led him to his first book, Success Guide for Students in Tertiary Institution. In this second book, he has shared some road maps to ensure that anyone who desires to acquire a formal education can comfortably achieve that without constraint.
